BUILDING INSPECTORS PONDER CODE

Close inspection of the National Building Code of Canada and its interpretation and application to local conditions in each community were undertaken at a meeting in Penticton of 32 building inspectors from throughout B.C. with members of the National Research Council. The meeting, concluding with a luncheon banquet this afternoon, included discussions on space separation and local building problems. Any decisions were to be announced this afternoon. Here R. S. Ferguson, secretary of the associate committee of the National Research Council, Ottawa (centre), points out certain revisions of the code to G. E. Corbin of Penticton (left), president of the B.C. Building Inspectors Association; and A. C. Veale of Vancouver, western research council representative of the National Building Code. Also present was J. Robinson, secretary of the Building Inspectors Association of B.C., from Vancouver.

Teamster Officials Face Election Rigging Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters leaders have been ordered to appear in federal court Sept. 27 to answer charges that they have conspired to rig the union election in favor of Hoffa.

U.S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts directed them to show cause why the election scheduled for the teamsters convention at Miami Beach, Fla., next month should not be delayed by a temporary injunction.

The 82-year-old judge acted on a petition filed for a group of rank and file teamsters in the New York area by lawyer Godfrey P. Schmidt.

Schmidt staved off Hoffa's attempt to swing a New York teamsters district council election two years ago.

Schmidt said Hoffa, a teamsters vice-president and leading contender for the $50,000-a-year presidential post being relinquished by Dave Beck — has combined with Beck and others to rig the Miami Beach balloting.

The convention starts Sept. 3, with the elections due Oct. 4 or 5. Schmidt, referring to the ruling Teamsters chiefs as a "swindle-bund," told Judge Letts they exercised dictatorial control over the 1,500,000-member union.

DELEGATES PICKED
He said the convention delegates have been hand-picked, selected without the membership vote required by the Teamsters constitution. He alleged this is

NO ASIAN FLU IN B.C. SAYS HEALTH OFFICIAL

Flu Wave Not Serious?

VICTORIA (CP) — Provincial health authorities warned Friday that the so-called Asian flu scare has mushroomed out of all proportion.

"The situation is not serious at all," said Dr. G. F. Amyot, deputy minister of health. "Somebody is trying to whip it into something serious. There's no need for anyone to get panicky."

Dr. D. A. Clarke, health inspector for the South Okanagan Health Unit reported the Okanagan clear of flu and the overall health record as being good.

He said it was difficult to determine the Asian flu for tests might be made and sent away for examination.

"As yet we have found no cause for such an examination in this area," he said.

Truth of the matter was that complications from Asian flu were milder and fewer than ordinary flu, the deputy minister of health said.

The department sent four or five virus samples off to Ottawa to be examined but so far no reply has been received here as to whether the samples were the Asian flu bug.

Reports from Ottawa Friday said the examination of B.C. specimens showed there had definitely been cases of the Asian flu in the province.

"Ottawa hasn't bothered to tell us anything. So far as we are concerned there have been no cases of Asian flu reported and that's the way it will stand until we hear from Ottawa," said the deputy minister.

ISSUES WARNING
MONTREAL (CP) — The wave of mild Asian flu now sweeping Europe and North America may be followed by another more severe wave, Dr. Perrin H. Long of the College of Medicine at the State University of New York said Friday.

Dr. Long said North America now is probably experiencing the first wave of mild influenza and likely a wave of more severe influenza will hit later.

250,000 BRITONS HIT
LONDON (Reuters) — British television viewers were told Friday that Asian flu now has hit 250,000 Britons, including 100,000 schoolchildren.

Deaths from bronchial pneumonia following flu attacks rose to 27 in the hard-hit Midlands and north of England. Eight of the victims were children.

PRINCE OLAV BECOMES KING

King Haakon of Norway Dies

OSLO, Norway, (AP) — King Haakon VIII of Norway, an old sailor who rode out the storms of foreign invasion for more than 50 years, died early today in the royal palace. He was 85 and the world's oldest reigning monarch.

The king had been growing weaker in his fight against a circulatory ailment. Death came shortly after heart trouble developed Friday night.

Crown Prince Olav, regent of the realm, since his father broke a thigh bone in a fall in 1955, became the new king — Olav V.

There will be no coronation. Norway's constitution, provided that Haakon was to be the last king formally crowned in coronation ceremonies in Norway.

SUBMITS OATH
Olav submitted a written statement to a special cabinet meeting saying he had succeeded his father.

"I promise and swear I will rule the monarchy of Norway in agreement with its constitution," the statement said.

The 54-year-old Olav must repeat the oath orally after a new parliament is convened in January.

Olav's sons, Prince Harald, received the title of crown prince upon his father's automatic ascension to the throne.

King Haakon, a stately six-foot three-inch former Danish prince, had been in frail health for some time. Early this week his doctors announced he was suffering from the circulatory ailment and expressed fears for his life.

A medical bulletin said the king, who had been receiving in-

This Rattlesnake Wasted His Time

ROY, N.M., (AP) — Herman O. Ogren, biologist for the New Mexico game department, was gathering wood near here when he heard a rattlesnake buzzing.

He yelled and his companion, Shelly Lowrance, ran to his aid with a rifle. He killed the snake, but not before it had bitten through Ogren's shoe.

Lowrance raced for the car and dashed back with a first aid kit to find Ogren sitting calmly on a rock.

"Don't get excited," soothed Ogren. "What this fool snake sank his fangs in was a prosthetic appliance — commonly known as a wooden leg."

BUSINESS FINDINGS

Food, Cars Top City Consumer Buying

(Special to the Herald)

NEW YORK — In Penticton, in the past year, food store operators and auto dealers succeeded jointly in snaring a major part of the money spent in local retail establishments.

The two pacemakers accounted for 49 cents out of every dollar spent at retail. Elsewhere in Canada the combination attracted only 39 cents and, in British Columbia, also 39 cents.

The findings are by Sales Management. They are contained in a comparative survey of the buying habits of consumers in every section of Canada and the United States.

The breakdown shows that housewives in Penticton spent freely for food, using 20 percent of their available money for it. They bought better grades and bigger quantities than before.

GOOD YEAR

As a result, the stores selling meat, fish, baked goods, vegetables and the like had a good year, with receipts totalling $3,733,000. Their volume in 1955 was $3,411,000.

The amount is only for food bought for home consumption and is exclusive of money spent in eating and drinking places.

Big spending was in evidence, also, in the automotive field, in purchases of new and used cars, boats and farm machinery. Local outlays in this direction totaled $5,340,000 in the year. They represented 29 percent of all retail buying.

Bus Depot Cleared in Bomb Scare

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police evacuated 250 persons from the downtown Greyhound bus depot early Saturday after receiving an anonymous tip that a bomb was planted there.

Officers searched the building—looking through more than 1,000 lockers in the process — and found no explosives.

More than a dozen buses were held up.

There was a moment of excitement when a woman in a restaurant screamed and blurted: "It's in here. It's in here. I can hear it ticking."

The ticking sounds she heard turned out to be coming from an out-of-order telephone.

Faubus Preparing Injunction Appeal

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The tree-lined street in front of all-white Central High School is quiet today, cleared of state troops.

Governor Orval Faubus, set back by a federal court, is preparing to appeal the injunction that broke the armed blockade he threw around the school, Sept. 2, when he declared it "off limits" to Negro children.

"As long as this order is in effect and until it's certain reversal on appeal, I will comply," Faubus said.

But he added he will appeal it.

Taken From Home By Unknown Caller

VANCOUVER (CP) — The fears of a father that his crippled 11-year-old daughter has been abducted were being investigated today by police.

"I hate to think what might have happened to her," said Terence Richards, father of Donna, the missing blonde, blue-eyed girl.

"She would have phoned if she was all right."

The child has worn an artificial limb since her right leg was amputated below the knee six years ago.

Donna's brother Larry, 16, said a 30-year-old man, known to his parents as "George" took Donna away in a car a few minutes before Mr. and Mrs. Richards returned home Friday.

He said "George" offered to drive Donna to the nearby home of a classmate, Shirley Ford, 11, where Donna was going to pick up an overcoat and some school books.

Shirley said Donna arrived, picked up her things and left about 7 p.m.

She has not been seen since. Donna's father, a longshoreman, said today he knew "George" only slightly. The man had slept at the Richards' home one night when he was down and out and "we took pity on him."

The Richards' youngest child, Diana, 7, said the same man gave her a ride in his car earlier this week.

LRB Accused Of Favoring IWA in Dispute

The Labor Relations Board is accused of favoring the International Woodworkers of America in its current dispute with the Lumber and Sawmill Workers section of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, over bargaining rights for Kennedy Lumber Co. employees at Cranbrook.

Richard E. Norris, interior representative for the Carpenters Union, said in a statement at Penticton Friday that the Labor Relations Board has "neglected to act on evidence that the IWA has falsified its membership records and issued phoney receipts to show initiation fees paid in their application for membership."

The mill, one of two in the Cranbrook area from which the IWA is trying to oust the Carpenters' Union, is presently under a two-year agreement with Local 2833 of the Carpenters' Union.

The IWA applied for certification for the employees on July 9 and Local 2833 immediately launched an investigation into the correctness of the application, Mr. Norris explained.

"We found proof that the IWA had falsified its membership records and issued phoney receipts to show initiation fees paid in their application for certification," he declared.

"This evidence was placed before the Labor Relations Board and a hearing requested by Local 2833," Mr. Norris continued, "but the board has neglected to act on the evidence they received and are now ordering a representation vote to be taken. It appears the Labor Relations Board is reluctant to act and thereby condones the falsification of records by the IWA."

Mr. Norris said the Carpenters' Union is taking court action to ensure "that our union receives equal and just treatment."

Haiti's Heated Election Reaches Climax Sunday

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Haiti's heated presidential and congressional election campaign ended Friday night as the ruling three-man military junta clamped a tight lid on all vote-getting activity.

The junta ordered a halt to campaigning to give the voters a 36-hour breather before going to the polls Sunday to elect a president, 21 senators and 37 members of the chamber of deputies.

The presidential post is being sought by three men. They are Louis Dejoie, a former senator, Dr. Francois Duvalier and Clement Jumele. Another candidate, Daniel Fignole, was exiled to New York June 14.

Fignole, who had a large following among the masses, was acting president at the time he was sent from the country. Other candidates charged he was using the office to strengthen his bid to be elected. Trouble mounted and the junta took control.

Presidential elections were last held in Haiti in 1956 when Paul Magloire was named to the office. He attempted to extend his tenure last December in violation of the constitution and was ousted after a general strike.

Civil Defence Exercise In Pentiction Nov. 2

After six years of attempting to foresee what would happen if we were faced with a national catastrophe we are finally beginning to get a definite idea," Col. J. H. Horn, of Kelowna, Coordinator of Civil Defence in the Okanagan area told members of the local Civil Defence.

The meeting called for preliminary discussion of a Civil Defence exercise in Pentiction, Nov. 2. There were 17 Civil Defence and civic representatives present. "We know what weapons will be used and what extent of damage they can do," Col. Horn said. "It is now our problem to build a firm organization to meet that threat."

People are still asking the question, what is the use of having civil defence, he stated. Our answer to that is that people must be rescued and we must prepare to accomplish that. One of our largest problems to day is creating public interest in this work.

Should an evacuation of Vancouver be needed our organization is designed to be reinforcement for the established public services. Col. Horn said. The main task however would be care of all the refugees. This would mean registering each one and finding accommodation, food and clothing for an anticipated three to five days. Should 50,000 refugees be sent to this area we would be forced into a high pressure campaign. Rod and Gun clubs would send out the top marksmen to hunt game for food for there would be only existing rations for all," Col. Horn stated.

50-100 EVACUEES Col. Horn said that Nov. 2 has been set aside as a test day for this type of work in Pentiction. Between 50 and 100 evacuees will be brought in. Before then a study will be made of the hospital to find out what emergency accommodations can be made.

He expressed the need for volunteers to participate by answering questions for the public and encouraging them to take an active part in civil defence.

Fear of Fungus Bars B.C. Apple

Okanagan apples could not gain entry into the New Zealand market this year, because of "the reputed existence of a rare fungus disease," says J. B. Lander, general sales manager of B.C. Tree Fruits in a statement from Kelowna.

Mr. Lander, commenting on a report that only Eastern Canadian apples will be among the 30,000 cases being sent to New Zealand from Canada for the first time in a considerable number of years, declared:

"We were very sorry that we were not successful in our competition for the New Zealand business. Government authorities at that point refused to accept British Columbia apples because of the reputed existence of a rare fungus disease called 'Sclerotinia Laxa'.

"Plant pathologists here know that this fungus exists only on Vancouver Island and they also isolated one case of it in Queen's Bay, a small area about 60 miles north of Creston but it has never been known to exist here in our main production zones.

"A great deal of effort was made to convince the New Zealand government of our real position in this matter, without avail. Continuing efforts are being carried on to break the existing deadlock so we may compete for any future business offered.

"But in this case we could not prevail upon them to relax the very strict regulations they have enforced governing importations where even a remote threat exists to their own important apple growing production."

LOOKING FROM HERE

WITH VIC MISUTKA

Well, we've finally found it. We've got the formula for getting rich. We're sure it'll work, cause it's working for others. Within a few weeks we should be able to retire to Monte Carlo or the Riviera.

How'll we accomplish this? It's quite simple, really; so simple that we're kicking ourselves for not thinking of it sooner. All we have to do is write a book.

What'll we write about? That's no problem. We don't have to write about anything in particular. The books selling the best these days aren't about anything at all. At least they don't say anything. "All we have to do is describe a blonde, curvaceous heroine — the wife can help here. Then we describe a handsome, virile bundle of masculine charm — Elvis Presley could be the model. Our hero and heroine must be married, of course, but to different people — the book wouldn't sell otherwise. We'll put 'em together in a few "boudoir" scenes leaving as little to the imagination as possible, throw in a few crooks, dope peddlers and assorted riff-raff for the hero to take on single handed, spice the yarn with lots of swear words and "double entendres, glorify crime and the seamy side of life a bit and there's our book.

COVER THE BOOK BUT NOT THE HEROINE Just to promote sales we'll give specific instructions to the artist chap who designs the cover. We'll ask that he paint the blonde at her most curvaceous and well exposed, gazing at our hero with "come hither" eyes. You see, the cover of a book is all important. A good cover showing a "dill" with as little cover as possible, can make any book into a best seller. Today's readers really go for stuff like that so give them what they want even if the cover overdoes the story a bit.

Then, of course, we'll try to have the book banned somewhere. That'll give us all the publicity we need. If we can get it banned in two places it'll be made into a movie and we're started on our second million. Many a writer has rolled to multimillions on the "banned wagon."

If we're real lucky and our book creates enough of a fuss, we might even get the Krushchev peace prize for literary art. Of course our little opus might lead a few people to think crime, sex, gore and degradation are normal parts of a normal society. In fact it could easily give the impression that anything's proper as long as one can get away with it, but why should we worry about that? That's the kind of stuff the readers want so we're merely providing it like a good fellow. Why should we be unwilling to stoop to the gutter if we can pick up a million or so? And what if we do drag a few readers down with us and they stay there?

LITERATURE NOTHING TO DO WITH WRITING Oh we know that's not how Shakespeare or Dryden or Chesterton did it but then they were old-fashioned. They had some silly notion that writing should be literature — you know, something that would be of permanent value to mankind through excellence of thought, form, emotional effect or other such rot. You don't hear of them amounting to very much, do you? No sir, they weren't smart like Mickey Spillane.

Of course there's always the possibility that somebody might stop the book from being printed, but that's only a remote risk. This business of freedom is too dear to us to permit anything suggestive of censorship or suppression of free speech.

There's only one catch. You see we've led a sheltered sort of life and will have to do lots of research before beginning our tome. In other words we're going to have to bring our scanty knowledge of crooks, "femmes fatales" and swear-words up to date. A subscription to one of these "mens" magazines should do the trick.

Delicious Banana Dessert

Preparing delicious meals without going near the stove is becoming increasingly easy for homemakers — thanks to the pantry shelf and refrigerator with canned meats, chilled soups, salads galore, and refrigerator-made desserts.

In the last category, we have an entry today which is bound to have rave notices. A luscious banana torte fashioned of sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice, diced bananas and heavy cream and chilled to creamy rich perfection.

MAGIC BANANA TORTE
1 cup (about 12 crackers) finely crushed graham cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons butter, melted
1 (13-oz.) can sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 medium-size ripe bananas, sliced
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup whipping cream

Combine graham cracker crumbs and butter. Reserve 2 tablespoons of crumb mixture. Press remaining crumb mixture evenly over bottom of lightly buttered (8x8x2-inch) square baking pan. Combine condensed milk and one-third cup of the lemon juice; stir until smooth and thickened. Mix together lightly bananas, remaining lemon juice and sugar until bananas are well-coated with the juice. Fold into the condensed milk mixture. Whip heavy cream; fold into mixture. Pour into pan; spread evenly. Sprinkle reserved crumbs on top. Chill until firm, about 12 hours. Cut into 2x2 1/2 inch portions.

HOUSEHOLD HINT
The handles of saucepans and skillets should be turned away from the edge of the kitchen range. A protruding handle is too easily hit, knocking the pot over. Make this a habit especially if there are children in the house.

Small yellow summer squash makes a tasty addition to tossed green salads. Select a young and tender squash.

Wrap silver and gold evening bags in dark-colored cloth to prevent tarnish. Store them in individual boxes.

ODESSA — Today we have been in the hands of our intourist guides for a conducted tour of some of the places they wanted us to see. We have visited a sanatorium, a park and beach, a pioneer camp, and a Russian home. The last-named visit was made at the insistence of the party. The 30 Canadians and two Americans were accompanied there by three intourist guides.

The sanatorium we visited was a rest home for those with heart trouble or nervous diseases. It was a large place rambling over several acres of land. Patients were roaming around, the men in striped pyjama-like suits and the women in house coats.

We were shown several types of cure baths, and some rooms, like those in a hospital, with bed, chair and dressing table.

Odessa has 42 such sanatoria. The length of stay is 28 days, and if the patient is not cured, further treatment may be given.

FOR TRADE UNIONISTS
This sanatorium was known as No. 5 for trade unionists of the Soviet Union. The patient pays 30 percent of the total cost of his or her stay. If unable to pay, the guide told us, the union pays the patient's share.

We found the people friendly. One school teacher, however, became a little excited. She appealed to the teachers in our group to go home and tell Canada not to believe the lies printed about Russia.

PARK CROWDED
At the park we visited, the beach was black with people. Thousands were out seeking a little sun-tan. At a kiosk, the guide insisted I have a soft drink. It was a glass of something like grape juice. The small kiosks, however, have only from four to six glasses. They are hastily rinsed in cold running water to keep up with the crowds of customers.

CAMP FOR PIONEERS
The pioneer camp we visited was one for children of steel cable mill workers. The pioneers are children from seven to 14. Members must spend one month each summer at camp. Parents pay according to income, but orphans or those unable to pay go there free. The camp has a program very much like that of similar camps in Canada.

Our guide was continually extolling the virtues of Communist Russia. He told us that his parents, of pre-revolution vintage, had been poor and illiterate, but that he and his three brothers had been well educated and his sister was a nurse.

To our thinking, there was nothing unusual about this. It happens in Canada. But these people, believe it is all due to the revolution and communism.

TYPICAL NEW HOME

The home we visited was a small brand-new cottage, not yet quite finished. There was no bathroom in it. Off a small hall was the kitchen. It was pretty well filled up by a curtained-off cupboard, a hand basin with running water, another cupboard, with mirror doors, a coal stove, covered specially for the occasion with a lace cloth, a round table and bed.

The living room was dominated by a square table covered with a roman striped plush. It was a small room, terribly cluttered up with furniture.

In it there were four dining-room chairs, a table radio, a chest-of-drawers with a top like a mantelpiece, covered with nick-nacks, a large sideboard, another small table, 13 pictures on the wall and, high up, a small ikon.

The bedroom held comfortably a three-quarter bed and a cot. There was a sort of back kitchen which seemed to be a work room. The occupant was a greenkeeper at the port of Odessa. In this small home with him lived his wife, their son and daughter-in-law and grandson.

Outside there was a well-kept garden, with fruit trees, flowers and vegetables.

This is the kind of home that thousands of Russians dream about. People in the cities will never have it, because only apartments are built there. The apartment house plan is aimed at getting rid of the slums, where 15 people live in a hovel no larger than the little house I saw today. It is a big job.

Apple Coffee Cake

For centuries apples have provided plenty of good eating for historians tell us they are probably the oldest cultivated fruit. In fact ever since Eve succumbed to the first apple it seems it has been considered a very enticing fruit. The fresh apples that are available right now are mighty enticing too when they're an ingredient in this Apple Slice Coffee Cake. Just a touch of cinnamon accentuates the tart flavor of apples in this coffee cake that has a tender, delicious muffin-like topping. It's an excellent way to include apples... which scientists and doctors consider an excellent source of vitamins B and C... in the diet while they are abundant.

APPLE SLICE COFFEE CAKE

Yield — 9 squares.
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup lightly-packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 1/2 cups apples slices
1/2 cup once-sifted all-purpose flour or 2 cups once-sifted pastry flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1/3 cup shortening, melted
Preheat oven to 375 deg. F. (moderately hot). Melt butter or margarine in an 8-inch square cake pan. Combine brown sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over butter or margarine in pan. Arrange apple slices in a design over brown sugar mixture. Sift the all-purpose or pastry flour, baking powder, salt and granulated sugar into a bowl. Beat egg until thick and light; blend in milk and melted shortening. Make a well in dry ingredients and add liquids all at once, stirring just to combine. Turn batter into prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven, about 35 minutes. Stand pan on a cake rack for 2 or 3 minutes, then turn out cake onto a large serving dish. Serve with soft butter.

Couple Honored With Presentation By "Farm Family"

SUMMERLAND — A party at the Farm began on Sunday afternoon honored Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Usick who were married in August.

Mr. Usick is on the staff of the Experimental Farm and in speaking Dr. T. H. Anstey, superintendent, expressed the good wishes of the "Farm Family" gathered for the happy occasion.

Races for the children, a ball game and a dip in the lake by a number of people, were followed by a presentation by Dr. Anstey. The young couple were given a lovely card table and four chairs with congratulations from everyone present.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Usick thanked the group, and a picnic supper concluded the event.

Tuna Combination Makes a Good Grilled Sandwich

A grilled Albacore Tuna Surprise will prove to be exactly that (and what is nicer than a delicious surprise?), if you follow this simple recipe.

ALBACORE TUNA SURPRISE

1 can albacore tuna,
1/4 cup chopped celery,
2 tablespoons pickle, chopped fine,
1/2 cup mayonnaise,
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce,
4 cheese slices.
Combine the albacore tuna, celery, pickle, mayonnaise and Worcestershire sauce. Toast 4 slices of bread on one side, spread untoasted side with albacore tuna mix and top with cheese slice. Place sandwiches under broiler until cheese is melted or into 350 degree oven. The flavour will indeed be delightful. Serves 4.

WORDS OF THE WISE

Moore Batters Anthony Into Submission in 7th

Two-Fisted Attack Drops Challenger

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Venerable Archie Moore winks when he says he'll fight for another 10 years, but young Tony Anthony won't say it isn't possible.

Old Arch, who started fighting 21 years ago and may be 43 or perhaps older, slammed 22-year-old Anthony without mercy Friday night to score a seventh-round knockout and preserve his light heavyweight title.

In his dressing room after the fight Moore said he would like to tangle with Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., in a match for the 175-pound crown which he thinks will aid Uncle Sam's relations with Canada.

LIONS IDLE OVER WEEKEND

British Columbia Lions, who played their eighth game last Monday, are idle.

No games are scheduled this Monday, the only Monday during the regular schedule from opening day until Nov. 2 without at least one game.

WAKSHINSKI IN FOLD

Clay Wakshinski, flashy forward with Penticton Vees last year, puts his name on the dotted line as Hal Tarala, sophomore coach of the Penticton club looks on. Tarala expects Clay to be one of the big guns on the Vees forward lines this season and the high-scoring forward will be in action when the Vees meet West Westminster Royals on Oct. 4 and Victoria Cougars on Oct. 7 in exhibition games in preparation for the first league game which will be here against Vernon, not Kamloops as previously reported.

WINNER MEETS ORIOLES

Kamloops Here Sunday For Semi-Final Tilt

Battling right down to the wire, Penticton Red Sox and Kamloops Okonots will square off in the third and deciding game of their best-of-seven Okanagan-Mainline Baseball League semi-final series Sunday at King's Park. Game time is 2:30 p.m.

Red Sox took the opening game from the defending league champion Okonots here, rallying for eight runs to wipe out a 3-1 deficit and go on to a 10-3 triumph.

Kamloops bounced back into contention last Sunday when they squeaked out a narrow 4-3 win on the strength of seventh inning two-run homer and a sparkling job of relief hurling by Len Gatin.

Southpaw Jack Durston, who was shelved from the mound in the early innings of the first game, will probably start for the locals if he has shaken off the sore arm trouble that has plagued him the latter part of the season.

Backing Durston up will be Jim Staff, young Red Sox right-hander who came on to win the first game in a relief role and who was tagged with the loss in the second game.

Red Sox lineup will be intact with the possible exception of shortstop Lloyd BURGART, who is attending college in Seattle, Wash. Red Sox officials are expecting BURGART for Sunday's game but are not certain whether he will be able to make it.

Winner of the semi-final series will meet Kelowna Orioles, who defeated Oliver OBC's in straight games after finishing the regular season in first place. Oliver finished third behind Penticton and Kamloops took fourth place and the last playoff berth.

Summerland, Vernon, Princeton trailed in that order.

YANKS BREEZE ALONG

Cleveland Jolts White Sox' Hopes

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The slim hope that Chicago White Sox had of capturing the American League pennant withered in half Friday night in the face of a two-run ninth-inning rally by Cleveland Indians.

The Tribe put together three singles, a sacrifice and a sacrifice fly to score twice and edge White Sox into near oblivion by a 3-2 count.

New York defeated Boston 7-4 despite a Red Sox comeback in the ninth that netted all their runs.

The champs now are all but in, with a magic number of two. Two New York wins or one New York victory and a Chicago loss and White Sox can start planning next season's campaign.

In the only other game Baltimore blanked Washington 1-0. Rain postponed Detroit at Kansas City.

Whitey Ford, staked to an early lead, as Yogi Berra hit a three-run homer and Hank Bauer batted in a pair against Tom Brewer, had a three-hit shutout for eight. Then Ted Williams hit a pinch home run to open the ninth. Frank Malzone added a RBI single and Jackie Jensen hammered a two-run homer before Bob Grim came on to get the final out in Ford's 11th victory. Whitey, likely to open the world series, struck out eight, his one-game high this season, while making his first appearance in a week because of a flu attack.

Williams' homer, his 35th but first at Yankee Stadium this year, added two points to his batting average, now .379. Yankee Mickey Mantle, 1 for 2, gained a point, but trails by 13 at .306.

Dick Donovan, who has won 16, built a 2-1 White Sox lead with a only to lose his sixth.

STILL FOUR GAMES OFF PACE

Cards Rally for Win

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

What a weekend this is going to be in that National League pennant brawl. Anything goes today and sure as the Milwaukee Braves shoot to pad their lead at Chicago and the scrambling St. Louis Cardinals battle to stay close at Cincinnati before opening a three-game showdown at Milwaukee Monday night.

It's officially a two-team race now. Brooklyn's defending champions, last of the outsiders, have been eliminated and it's Milwaukee by four as the Braves and Cards go to work on their last eight games.

Cardinals, scrapping from behind for the third time in their last four victories, tied Cincinnati with a run in the ninth, then beat Redlegs 7-5 in the 10th Friday night on Joe Cunningham's home run. They knew they had to do it—Milwaukee's 9-3 afternoon victory over Cubs was up on the Crosely Field scoreboard all the while.

FIVE-RUN SEVENTH

Braves, who now have won four in a row after junking their slump, cracked a 2-2 tie with five in the seventh, then wasted no time in yanking their ace, Warren Spahn, when Cubs paired their third hit of the game with a walk in the seventh. Don McMahon hustled in and the right-handed reliever struck out six in the final 2 1/3 innings to make sure Spahn became the first to win 20 in the major league this season.

With the victory, Milwaukee's magic number was reduced to five. Any combination of five Milwaukee victories and St. Louis defeats bags it for Braves. In the other game, Brooklyn was beaten 3-2 by Philadelphia. New York at Pittsburgh was postponed by rain. (WASE) MIZZELL.

Cardinals scored first on Del Egan's home run in the second, but Redlegs chased Wilmer Mizell with four in their second and added another in the third for a 5-3 bulge before Larry Jackson, Morris Martin and reliever Billy Muffett took charge and blanked them on three hits over the last seven.

Braves sent 11 men to the plate in the seventh, getting the job done with five hits as Bob Rush lost his 10th. McMahon gave up three hits while nailing it for Spahn, who has won 20 or more in eight seasons. Bob Lefty Crowe is the only other modern era southpaw to claim that many 20-victory years.

In the bat race, Cardinal Stan Musial 2-for-4 added a point for 343 while runnerup Willie Mays of New York stayed at .389. Stan Lopata's sacrifice fly scored the clinch in a two-run Phillies ninth against Carl Erskine, who had blanked Phils on two hits after Chico Fernandez' first-inning homer. Dick Farrell won his 10 in relief.

Beecroft Wins Batting Crown

Gordie Beecroft of Kamloops finished with a rush to win the Okanagan-Mainline Baseball League batting title with a .493 average.

Frank Fritz of Princeton finished in the runner-up slot with a .465 average and Gordie Mundie, Oliver OBC's shortstop who was the leading hitter for most of the season finished third.

Swede Added to Bruin Lineup

BOSTON, (AP) — Sven Tumba Johanson, the Swedish import who is fighting for a chance to play with Boston Bruins, was a last minute addition to the lineup for tonight's opening exhibition game against Springfield at Boston Garden.

Johansson replaced the ailing Connie Borden in the lineup for the Boston National Hockey League club. The Swede wasn't in top shape — his fractured wrist remained in a cast.

Brampton Captures Junior Boxla Title

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Brampton Excelsiors Friday night squared their account in the Canadian junior lacrosse championships by defeating Victoria Shamrocks 15-7 to win the 1957 title.

Last year they missed the Minto Cup when they were beaten in the last game of the final series by Vancouver Mount Pleasant in the West.

More than 2,000 jubilant fans looked on as Excelsiors captured the best-of-seven series 4-2.

The game was Brampton's from the first. They took a 3-1 lead in the first period and doggedly kept on tossing in the goals for the rest of the game.

SMITH TALLIES TWO

Slew Smith topped the Victoria scoring with two. Ross Roskamp, Wally Harris, Bill Gosling, Bob McKee and Jack Wilson had one each.

Gord Thompson sparked the Brampton offense with three goals. His brother, Wayne, and Roy Wood scored two each. Bert Naylor, Brian Ahearn, Larry Ferguson, Bruce Wanless, Ken Richardson, Jack Madgett, John Ford and Jack McClure each added one.

Excelsiors pounded in six goals in the second period to take a convincing 9-4 lead. They outscored the western club in three of the four periods.

Ten penalties were handed out in the hard-checking match, six to Brampton and four to Victoria. Victoria took an early lead in the 14-9. Brampton replied with two series, winning the first game by successive wins, 15-9 and 14-9. Victoria tied the round in the fourth game with an 8-7 victory. In the fifth game Wednesday night Brampton took the lead again with a 10-5 triumph.

Shamrocks Connect In Overtime Session

VICTORIA — (CP) — The Long Branch Pontiacs figure they know how they will beat watching when they go into the third game of the best-of-seven Mann Cup lacrosse championships Monday against the Victoria Shamrocks.

It's taken them two games to learn. Wednesday they dropped the opener 12-4. Friday they lost 12-9 after a 10-minute overtime period.

It was a hard loss to take Friday. Pontiacs outplayed, outshot, and generally outwitted the Shamrocks in the regulation four quarters. At one point they led the Victoria crew 8-3 only to lose ground by incurring two penalties within 30 seconds and give the Shamrocks a two-man advantage.

Their overtime loss was attributed mostly to tension and to Victoria's belated expert ball-handling.

Individual Long Branch stars were Florian Tomchysyn, John Coleman and Tony D'Amico.

Tomchysyn, a stocky, fleet young forward, completely baffled the Shamrocks with his knack of coming up with the ball after wild scrambles and with his spectacular floor-length dashes.

Coleman, his bespectacled and mild-looking linemate, bullied his way through the roughest and toughest of Victoria defencemen as if they didn't exist and returned the dogged checking with interest.

Chunky D'Amico in his defence slot was the nemesis of the fleet Victoria forwards and contributed two goals and two assists to the Pontiac totals.

Shamrocks' winning goal in overtime Friday was a sizzling 40-footer lobbed by Bert Bertio after a pattern play was set up and executed successfully.

Dave Russell in the Long Branch net, with 25 stops to his credit, was outshone in that department by Gordie Johnston who blocked a total of 34 Pontiac tries.

Pontiac coach Elmer Lee said after the game there was no question in his mind as to Monday's outcome.

"We'll win Monday night—there's no doubt about that," he said.

"We know who to watch on that club now, and that big bald-headed guy is going to be iced and sent home."

Lee was speaking of Skip McKay, a regular Nanaimo defenceman picked up for the series. McKay, while he only scored two goals Friday, checked, ragged and harried Pontiac players into missing several "sure" shots.

The word is also out to watch coach Whitey Severson and forward Peevies Bradshaw, a deadly combination in close pattern and power plays. Severson with his pinpoint passing and Bradshaw with his accurate shooting.

Lee also attributed the loss to "poor officiating" by referees Sid Greenwood and Earl McDonald.

EXTRA LARGE EGG FROM LOCAL HEN

Proving that it's not just the people of Penticton who do things in a big way, a hen owned by Mrs. Sidney Smith, 2944 Duncan Avenue, became ambitious one day and came up with a double-yoked egg that a goose could be proud of for size. The abnormal egg, held here by Mrs. Smith alongside an ordinary specimen, measures seven and a quarter inches in circumference at the middle and three and a quarter inches in length.

TO OPEN IN 1958

Toll Free Seaway Unlikely for Users

OTTAWA (CP) — Unless Parliament changes Canada's seaway legislation, tolls will be charged when the St. Lawrence waterway opens in 1959 — despite a major bid by potential users for a toll-free system.

No-toll advocates formed the largest group of shipping and business interests that submitted briefs at a public hearing this week on the toll question.

The Dominion Marine Association — spokesman for 22 Canadian shipping firms — declined to discuss a toll formula at the hearing, and followed up its action with disclosure of a lengthy brief submitted privately last week to Transport Minister Hees.

The brief is a survey of major goods expected to gain greatest benefit from the seaway, a 27-foot-deep system of locks through the rapids of the St. Lawrence River from Montreal to Iroquois, Ontario.

Lighter forecast. It forecasts an initial traffic of 20,000,000 tons of cargo in 1959, increasing in the following 10 years to 30,000,000 tons. The DMA estimate is far below previous unofficial figures, which see a first-year traffic of possibly 36,000,000 tons.

"Any toll system reduces the potential of the St. Lawrence seaway to provide the maximum benefit for all the people of Canada," the association told Mr. Hees. "Whether the seaway is paid for from public funds or by way of a toll it is, in the final analysis, the general public of Canada which will bear the cost."

At the hearing, association spokesman J. J. Mahoney urged that Parliament debate the issue before tolls are implemented. He said the choice still could be made to operate the Canadian part of the seaway — five of the seven new locks — without tolls.

Tolls seen mandatory. But seaway president Charles Gaville made it clear at the hearing's opening that the authority regarded the law as requiring it to impose tolls. A similar pledge for tolls was made by Lewis G. Castle, administrator of the United States seaway agency, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, at toll hearings this month in Washington and Chicago.

Some briefs flatly advocated a non-toll seaway, but added that if free passage was impossible or unlikely, then the toll structure should be the lowest possible.

Only one brief gave firm backing to tolls. The Railway Association of Canada, representing 22 railroads, asked for an "equitable" toll high enough to amortize the seaway cost and operation in 50 years.

Canada Steamship Line said that to protect Canadian domestic shippers, it wanted a higher toll for general cargo travelling to or from foreign ports.

A joint brief of the Shipping Federation of Canada and the Canadian Shipowners Association said tolls should not be based on the light traffic of the first few years but on maximum seaway capacity.

Mindszenty Still Remains Problem

By CARL HARTMAN

BUDAPEST (AP) — Across the square from Budapest's Marx-Lenin Institute, behind the green blinds of the U.S. Legation, Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty poses a problem for both the American government and Hungary's Communist regime.

For almost a year he has not left that island of U.S. soil in the heart of Budapest. The Communists have made it clear that if he does they will arrest him at the door.

The 65-year-old prelate lives in a comfortable three-room apartment designed for the U.S. minister to Hungary.

Visitors to the legation's fourth floor, where the diplomats have their offices, sometimes catch a glimpse of a slightly-bent figure in a black cassock and red skull cap.

Sometimes he will nod and smile politely to a visitor he recognizes, but he does not speak. Officially he is incommunicado.

WALKS IN COURTYARD. His only companions are half a dozen U.S. diplomats who take turns accompanying him on daily walks in a gloomy paved courtyard.

State department policy is to say as little about the cardinal as possible and to permit no interviews. From what can be learned unofficially, he spends most of his time reading and writing. He reads newspapers and listens to a small table radio, mostly to news programs.

The legation supplies reading and writing materials. He has no secretary or other help. Every Sunday the cardinal dons his vestments and says mass in his office-sitting-room for a few Roman Catholic employees of the legation. Usually he has no one to assist him, and reads the responses himself.

LIKES CAKES. His food comes from the legation's little coffee shop. He has a sweet tooth and legation wives like to bake cakes for him.

Occasionally a movie is run off for him.

Cardinal Mindszenty was admitted to the building on orders from Washington Nov. 4, 1956 when Russian tanks were rolling back into Budapest to crush the revolt.

A few weeks earlier — during the brief period of more liberal government — he had been released from a sentence of life imprisonment.

He said Thursday he plans to announce the appointment Friday.

Mr. Diefenbaker said Senator Haig's cabinet post is "to provide for liaison with the cabinet."

His appointment to the cabinet will increase Mr. Diefenbaker's ministers to 22 — including the prime minister himself — of which three will be ministers without portfolio. The last Liberal cabinet had 21 members, none without portfolio.

The other non-portfolio ministers are Hon. J. M. Macdonnell of Toronto Greenwood and Hon. W. J. Brownie of St. John's East, Nfld.

Opening lead — ten of spades.
South gave a fine imitation of a man in a hurry to get where he wanted to be by going to six notrump in one bounce.

West chose the ten of spades as his safest lead and declarer noted there were only eleven sure tricks in sight. The twelfth trick could come from the diamond or club suits if either one broke satisfactorily.

Rather than place all his faith immediately in a favorable break of one of the minor suits, South decided to delay testing either suit until he could gather more information about the opponents' distribution.

His first play after winning the opening lead with the jack of spades was the four of hearts. Of course, by doing so, he gave up all chance of making thirteen tricks, but he could well afford to squander 30 points, an insignificant investment, if it would lead to making the vulnerable slam.

West took the heart with the eight and returned the nine of spades. The purpose of the heart play became clear as South cashed his high cards in both spades and hearts. West didn't follow to the third round of either suit and South therefore learned West had started with a doubleton in each major.

The low heart play was made to force the defenders to reveal their distribution so that declarer would be in better position to know how to play his clubs and diamonds. There was a possible club finesse if it could be proved either defender originally held J-x-x of clubs, and a diamond finesse was possible if West had been dealt J-x or 10-x of diamonds.

An interesting development occurred early, however, as declarer cashed his spades and hearts. West had to make two discards and became squeezed. He could spare a diamond on the third spade lead, but had to part with either a club or another diamond on the third heart lead.

Most squeezes are planned in advance, but there's no law that says you can't collect on a squeeze if you stumble into one.

225,000 ARRIVALS

Immigrants Could Populate Large City

OTTAWA (CP) — Enough immigrants arrived in Canada in the first eight months of 1957, to populate a city the size of Edmonton.

Immigration department officials estimated Thursday that arrivals between Jan. 1 and Aug. 31 totalled 225,000. Edmonton had a population of 224,003 at the June 1956, census count.

By the end of the year the number of arrivals is expected to be greater than the June, 1956, population of Winnipeg, Canada's fourth largest city.

The immigration department estimates the year-end figure will be 275,000 or more. In June, 1956, the city of Winnipeg had a population of 256,683.

The total of 225,000 arrivals in the January-August period was greater than in any full year since 1913. It represented an increase of 126,239 over the 98,761 immigrants landed in Canada in the corresponding period of 1956. For all of 1956, the figure was 164,837.

In the first six months of 1957 final figures show immigrants from the British Isles made up the largest group of arrivals.

Arrivals from all countries between Jan. 1 and June 30 totalled 182,416, as against 69,924 in the corresponding period of 1956. Of the total 73,578 were British, compared with 22,438 last year.

By the end of the year British arrivals are expected to total between 85,000 and 90,000.

German immigrants in the six months totalled 16,304, up from 10,141 a year ago, and Italian immigrants rose to 19,171 from 12,457.

Of the British immigrants, 17,565 were flown to this country under the federal government's "air bridge to Canada" plan. Arrivals of Hungarian refugees from Jan. 1 to Sept. 11 totalled 30,419, bringing total Hungarian landings to 35,419.

Daniel, Steadfast in Crises

HE WAS OBEDIENT TO THE WILL OF GOD

Scripture—Daniel 1-6

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE STORY of Daniel, a captive of Nebuchadnezzar in Babylon, is one of the most dramatic in the Old Testament. It contains so much material that it may be difficult to mention all the episodes in the lesson time.

Daniel lived in Babylon during the reigns of four kings, Nebuchadnezzar, Belshazzar, Darius and Cyrus. When Nebuchadnezzar conquered Jerusalem, he told Ashpenaz, chief of his eunuchs, to bring certain of the princely young people from Israel who were healthy, well favored, skillful in wisdom and knowledge and who understood science, to his palace, to learn the language of the Chaldeans and to live at the court, eating meat from the king's table.

Daniel and his brothers were given the names of Belshazzar for Daniel, Shadrach for Hananiah, Michael for Meshach, and Azariah for Abednego. Now Daniel decided that he could not eat the king's meat or drink his wine because it was against Jewish custom. He persuaded Ashpenaz to let the four of them live on pulses (a porridge made of meal) and water for 10 days, and then compare their appearance with that of those who were eating the king's food. At the end of the 10 days, the Jewish youths were in better condition than the others.

Nebuchadnezzar had a dream which he couldn't remember in his waking hours, but which bothered him a great deal. He asked his magicians to tell him its meaning, but they were unable to because they didn't know what the dream was, which angered the king, who threatened them with death. They went to Daniel and he feared he and his brothers would perish with the rest if the dream were not revealed. That night Daniel had a vision from God in which the secret was given him, so he interpreted the dream for the king, telling him God had revealed it to him. The king made Daniel "a great man."

When Belshazzar was king of Babylon he gave a great feast to a thousand lords, with their wives and women friends. It must have been a magnificent affair. But that night Belshazzar was slain "And Darius, the Median, took the kingdom." The familiar story of Daniel's brothers being cast into a fiery furnace, but emerging unharmed, is also included in the lesson in Nebuchadnezzar's reign, and may be told if the teacher has the time. Their "fault" was that they would not bow down and worship a golden image which the king had made.

Also, in the reign of Darius, occurs the equally familiar tale of Daniel's being thrown into the den of lions because the princes were jealous of his favor with the king. Darius gave the order reluctantly, and the next morning, after a sleepless night, he went to the den and called to Daniel, who answered that "God hath sent his angel, and hath shut the lions' mouths that they have not hurt me."

"So Daniel was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, because he believed in his God."

"So this Daniel prospered in the reign of Darius, and in the reign of Cyrus, the Persian," because he was a true, capable, strong character who did the will of God.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

Russian Naval Base Problem

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The great Russian naval problem is bases. This appears to be the obvious reason for recent Russian penetration into the Mediterranean.

Soviet naval bases now are confined to the far north, the far east and the Black Sea. In a major war with the West, Russian warships would have to operate offensively far from their dockyards, an extremely difficult operation.

Thus the Soviet Union wants to improve its base situation. Warships have been supplied by Russia to Syria and Egypt, and the Soviets are reported building a big naval base in Communist Albania.

Russia itself is vulnerable to attack from Western forces in the Mediterranean, the chief threat to it being carrier-borne aircraft and missiles.

RUSSIAN SUBS

The Soviet navy now has some 550 submarines and it is steadily building more. There is little doubt that the submarine would pose at least as great a threat to the West as the German U-boat did to the Allies in the Second World War.

What especially worries Western defence planners is that the submarine now has the capability to fire a guided missile for distances up to at least 500 miles.

A submarine lying off the Atlantic seaboard could hit Montreal or Toronto as easily as Halifax. Canadian naval planning now is being switched from convoy protection to keeping submarines out of missile range of the North American coast. This will involve standing destroyer patrols far out in the Atlantic and Pacific.

The Russians, however, face somewhat the same problem as the Germans did in 1939. They have no bases within easy range of Atlantic shipping routes.

NAVAL MANOEUVRES

Both NATO and Russia now are holding large-scale naval manoeuvres—NATO in the North Atlantic and Russia in its sector of the Arctic.

The Soviets may be working on plans which, in event of war, would see them try to push their submarine, forces through the North Atlantic gap between Scotland and Iceland. The NATO navies—eight Canadian destroyers are among the 200 warships participating—are carrying out anti-submarine exercises.

In the Pacific, the naval problem for the West is more difficult because there is no such convenient gap which could be blocked off in the north Atlantic. The apparent reason for Russia closing Peter the Great Bay off Vladivostok to foreign shipping is further build-up of that naval base. The Russian base problem holds several advantages for the West. One is that if the Soviets planned to employ submarines as missile launchers at the start of a war they would first have to get them on station. Any big movement of Soviet subs into the Atlantic or Pacific likely would be detected and thus raise the alarm to prepare for attack.

Urges Hunters to Wear Conspicuous Clothing in Woods

ABBOTSFORD (CP) — Hunters should be compelled to wear conspicuous clothing, a coroner's jury suggested after inquiring Friday night into the deer-hunting death of Leonard Harvey Sylte.

His death was accidental, the jury ruled, but the grey Indian sweater he wore was a contributing factor. Sylte was one of three hunters killed on the opening day of the deer season.

Verdict of the jury assembled by Coroner Dr. H. A. McDonald said death was the result of a ruptured heart, caused by a bullet fired from a high-powered .22 calibre rifle by George Mathers.

Daniel, Steadfast in Crises

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Daniel 1-6

Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, ordered that young men in good health and with the ability to stand in his palace be brought before him. Among those chosen were Daniel and his three brothers.

Daniel refused to eat meat from the king's table for fear of defilement. He begged the eunuch that he and his brothers be given only pulse (a meal of porridge) and water. The eunuch agreed.

Nebuchadnezzar asked his magicians to interpret a dream although he could not remember it. They could not, but Daniel received a vision from God and told the king what his dream meant.

To Belshazzar Daniel interpreted the writing on the wall—Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharsin—to mean, 'Thy kingdom is divided, and given to the Medes and Persians.'
